

F50

Anodised aluminium railings

- Longer life span
- Low cost of maintenance
- Extremely resistant to ultra-radiation
- Aesthetically pleasing
- Low cost of installation
- Large choice of designs

F50

Anodised aluminium railings

There are twenty different types of models to choose from. Combining different profiles and brackets in various forms, ideal for balconies, terraces and staircases.

F50 Railing system is designed to offer a unique modern design, compatible with the recent trends for inox finishes. There is no configuration of railings or balusters which cannot be realized with this system and the large range of accessories and brackets.

Ideal for private homes and blocks of apartments, internal or external applications, as well as protection around swimming pools. Also available in powder coating finishes upon request.

